

The
JOURNAL OF CONTEMPORARY HISTORY

is pleased to announce that beginning in 2005
it will award a new annual prize in honour of its distinguished founding co-editor
George L. Mosse

THE GEORGE L. MOSSE PRIZE

for the best article published in the Journal of Contemporary History
each calendar year by a previously unpublished author
$2,000

Winners will be selected by the Editorial Board
The winners of the 2005 round will be announced early in 2006

"The Journal of Contemporary History is one of the outstanding learned journals of history in the English-speaking world." Times Literary Supplement

Founded by Walter Laqueur and George L Mosse in 1966, the Journal of Contemporary History is an international forum for the analysis of twentieth - century history. Now almost forty years old, the journal has long been established as essential reading for all scholars in contemporary European and international history.

Full submission and subscription information can be found at <http://jch.sagepub.com> or in every issue of the journal.